Never,
In my life,
Have i heard,
An enthralling voice such as hers...

Just like a perfectly tuned cello,
Playing softly in the back of my mind...

A beautiful symphony of painful love,
The kind of love that stings with every thought...

And i feel,
My words are useless,
Being left at the mercy of my muse...

Though she cannot percieve her cruelty,
For she is blessed with eternal purity...

She still hurts my already damaged heart...
